Subject: Engineering & IPWE (I) Library in Northern Railway HQ Office

The upgraded Engineering library, which is now called Engineering & IPWE (I) Library, was inaugurated by the Member Engineering, Railway Board on 24.03.2012. The library is now in a spacious accommodation on the roof of Annex-1 of the Baroda House HQ complex. New furniture and furnishings have been provided for improved ambience and reading facilities. A number of new books have also been provided. In the upgraded library you will find the following:

- (i) Seventy-six new books for the reference section which besides purely engineering subjects, cover a broad range of other subjects such as history, geography, the basic sciences, management, architecture, environment, and health and nutrition. List of the books is enclosed as Annexure I.
- (ii) Eleven journals have been subscribed and are being regularly received. The journals include Railway Gazette, International Railway journal, and Track & Structures. List of the the journals is enclosed Annexure-II
- (iii) There advanced desktop computer for viewing e-books, and educational videos. Presently there is a small selection of e-books and technical/educational videos
- (iv) A 42" flat-panel TV-cum-monitor for viewing videos of lectures, training program and other technical material.

The list of books and journals has also been put on the Northern Railway website.

You are requested to give wide circulation to this letter and encourage officers and staff to make use of the Library. The Library is open on all working days from 1030 to 1730 Hrs.
